

At some point any business will need to review, update or in some cases implement its IT solution. However what can you do if this is not your core area of expertise?

With Waytime's consultancy service we can help you ensure the right decisions are made at the right time.

Using a tried and tested method of: -

- Listening to your needs
- Looking at your business objectives
- Examining the perceived reasons for change vs. business objectives
- Acknowledging budget constraints

These may seem like obvious points but are quite often overlooked by internal or external providers of blanket "one size fits all" solutions with the available budget being the one and only factor. We have the advantage of knowing what is available in the market place and choosing an appropriate solution.

All our solutions are individually specified for your company, ensuring the best and most cost-effective result. Whatever the size of your company, we can help: -

- Connecting your business to the Internet
- General network and PC support
- Network installations and upgrades
- Implementation of messaging systems
- Email and web content management
- Internet security
- Virtual Private Network design and setup
- Wireless networking

All the benefits of having your own IT department but without any of the headaches!
